

Child's responsibilities

I will...

✗ Cross out ones that don't apply

Keep to the speed limit

Not race, skid or do burnouts, even if i've done it heaps of times in video games

Not drink any alcohol at all (ever), however, especially when I am planning to drive

Never use my phone while driving

Replace the petrol I use

*With more petrol, not tap water because it's more 'eco-friendly'

Be careful to park legally, even if I'm in a hurry

*Unless I use my hazards and dress up like a courier

Let mum and dad know when I arrive at my destination

Not take passengers until I have my full licence

*This doesn't include the family dog as long as he wears a seatbelt

Communicate if I go somewhere different than my agreed destination

Not eat food while driving

*Especially really hot pies, even if i've blown on it

Clean the car

Now appreciate how annoying cyclists can be when cycling two abreast down narrow lanes

Always raise one index finger in a friendly way to acknowledge road workers and anyone in a small town

Never compliment another road user on the size of their spoiler

Never be too cool to point at a group of horses and say loud and clear, "Horses," even if I'm the only one in the car

Not text message while driving

*Or hand write letters, or operate a typewriter or sew flags for the purposes of semaphore

Report any damage to the car

*Including emotional damage

Obey all road rules, including the rules about towing

Wear my seatbelt

Pay for any chrome spinning mags out of my own pocket money

Ensure I have insurance excess in my bank account

Never refer to the family car as 'The Whip'

Parent's responsibilities

I will...

✗ Cross out ones that don't apply

Be available if needed for mechanical difficulties or emergencies		Stop at stop signs
Set reasonable consequences if the contract is broken	Always question the veracity of my child's claims about how long it took them to get places	DJ when the driver
Reference the movie Cars to make points about safe driving and the power of friendship	Give confusing directions even though Google Maps exists	Stop calling the police names
		Make sure car is roadworthy and legal (WOF/ registration)

If I, _____ breach the terms of this contract, then I agree to the appropriate consequences as decided by my parent(s). These could include but are not limited to:

- Termination of family car privileges
- Limited use of the car
- Full payment of fines, petrol, or parking fees

This contract is between _____ and _____

Signed _____

Date _____

Signed _____

Date _____